

Framework Contract Information

This is your pre-contractual information before you are bound by our Terms of Use.

1. Information on SaveyourSum as account information service provider

Provider: SaveyourSum

Address: Max Halbritter, Klausenbrunnenweg 33, 86641 Rain, Germany

Identification number: / coming soon

E-mail address: saveyoursum@gmail.com

Webpages: www.saveyoursum.com

Registered: / coming soon

2. Information on account information service

Description of the account information service:

Our app allows users to manage personal finances by tracking income, expenses, and generating insights. Some features such as price comparison tools may involve redirection to third-party services.

3. Information on means of communication

Basic communication method:

Before concluding a framework agreement, SaveyourSum will provide the required legal information as agreed with the user. Ongoing updates will be shared via our website.

You may also contact us via e-mail: saveyoursum@gmail.com

Communicating to you:

If we need to inform you of any matters regarding our Terms of Use, we will do so via email or through notices on our website.

Language:

All communications will be conducted in English.

Requesting information:

You may request a copy of our current Terms of Use or other agreement-related information free of charge by emailing us at saveyoursum@gmail.com.

4. Information on governing law, complaints or disputes

Governing law:

The applicable governing law will be defined at a later stage and is subject to the jurisdiction of SaveyourSum's future incorporation.

Complaints or disputes:

In case of disputes or complaints, users can contact SaveyourSum via email. Further processes for dispute resolution will be made available once a legal entity exists.

5. Paid Features

Description:

SaveyourSum is free to use. However, optional subscription plans with extended features may become available. Pricing and subscription details will be displayed in the app or on www.saveyoursum.com before any purchase.